A Note from Mrs. Atkins

Happy Friday!!

Today we had our first early release day of the year! This year each early release day will be based on a theme decided by the grade level. For this early release day we chose "Solar Eclipse" as our theme. During the day the students had the opportunity to rotate through 3 stations, one with me, one with Mrs. Bosio (Track 2), and another with Mrs. Yahn (Track 1). This was a great opportunity for the students to learn more about this awesome event, and it also allowed them to get to know some of the fourth grade teachers that aren't on our track! Overall it was a very fun day!

As you know, per Mrs. Faircloth's email and our weekly email, for safety reasons we will not be going out to observe the Solar Eclipse. However, we will be live streaming the event in class via the Discovery Education and the NASA live feed. Several students have shared that they will be out of town to view the eclipse. I know that it will be an awesome occasion for your family. Please send an email or Class Dojo message, if you haven't already, if your child will not be here Monday so I can plan accordingly.

This week during word work we began our study of polysemous words (words or phrases that have multiple meanings). The students did a great job of generating a list for our polysemous word of the week: check! You can take a peak at a picture of one of the list on our lass twitter (@atkinsallstars). This weekend spend some time as a family making a list of all the check words and phrases that you can think of. I can't wait to "check out" your lists!

That covers everything for this week! Have a safe and fun-filled weekend!
